Ballenger, Mrs. Edie Lee, Mrs. Berkeley, Mrs. Grimes, Mrs. Chockley, Miss Katie Lee, Miss Cora Thompson, Miss Lucy Graves; alto, Mrs. Elward Nalls, Mrs. Oscar Baggett, Mrs. Chas. Adam, Miss Florence Sullivan; tenors, Messrs. Chas. Sullivan and T. H. Netherland, basses, Messrs. Elward Reed, Wm. Owens and Henry Hunter; organist, Mr. W. H. Starnell.

THE SUICIDE.—As stated in yesterday's Gazette, the body of the man who jumped from the ferry boat last Tuesday night was recovered by the crew of the police boat Vigilant near Fort Foote yesterday evening. The remains were taken to Washington and identified as those of Judge John Armstrong, of Washington. Judge Armstrong had been in poor health for a long time, and after the death of his wife, which occurred about four months ago, he grew very despondent. When he last left his home Tuesday evening he said he was going for a walk, but when it was discovered the next morning that he had not returned a general alarm was sent to the police stations. Judge Armstrong was a native of Mississippi and had been prominent in that State. He was once editor and publisher of the Vicksburg Herald and mayor of Vicksburg. In 1880 he went to Washington and was appointed to the position of superintendent of the document room of the House of Representatives. He was fifty-eight years old, and was a thirty-second degree Mason. He has six children, one of whom is Thomas H. Armstrong, a chief in the Treasury Department.

DEATH OF A YOUNG MAN.—Mr. John Eugene Gentry, jr., a popular young gentleman of this city, died at his residence on north Payne street yesterday evening. He had long been a victim of consumption, and several months ago was compelled to vacate his desk in the Southern Railway and seek a healthier climate. He was a son of Capt. J. E. Gentry, of the Southern Railway, was twenty-seven years of age, and unmarried. The funeral will take place from his home, 114 north Payne street, to-morrow evening at 3 o'clock.

THE GAME LAW.—The law of the State of Virginia approved February 2, 1898, provides that it shall be unlawful to kill, capture or sell partridges or quail, pheasants or wild turkeys, in the surrounding counties between the 1st of January and the 1st of November of each year.

DEATH OF MISS SMITH.—The many friends and acquaintances of Miss Frances Smith, daughter of Mr. W. M. Smith, Overseer of the Alms House, were shocked to learn of her death, which occurred about nine o'clock last night at the residence of Mr. Clarence Mills, on north Washington street. Miss Smith had been in this city during the day, and in the afternoon had started for her home. When she drew near the residence of ex-Mayor Downham she felt so unwell that she entered for the purpose of resting awhile before resuming her walk toward home. One of the members of Mr. Downham's family entered another room for the purpose of procuring a restorative for Miss Smith, who seemed to be in an exhausted condition, but when she returned she was surprised to discover that the visitor had left and was about a square away. Miss Smith walked on until she reached Mr. Mills's house, and growing worse she entered and asked permission to remain until she revived sufficiently to go home. Her condition became steadily worse and Mrs. Miller and Purvis were called, who found her on the verge of heart failure. Her parents were notified and they arrived at their daughter's side as soon as possible. Despite all that could be done she expired about nine o'clock. The physicians pronounced the cause of death to be acute Bright's disease. Coroner Purvis at first took charge of the body which was removed to Mr. Wm. Demaine's undertaking establishment on King street. Later, however, the remains were taken to her home. The deceased was a well-known and popular lady, and the news of her death was a shock to her large circle of acquaintances, all of whom sincerely tender their sympathy to her weeping household in their sudden and sad affliction. The funeral of the deceased will take place at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.
